

H₂O to go

Portable Water bottle refill stations

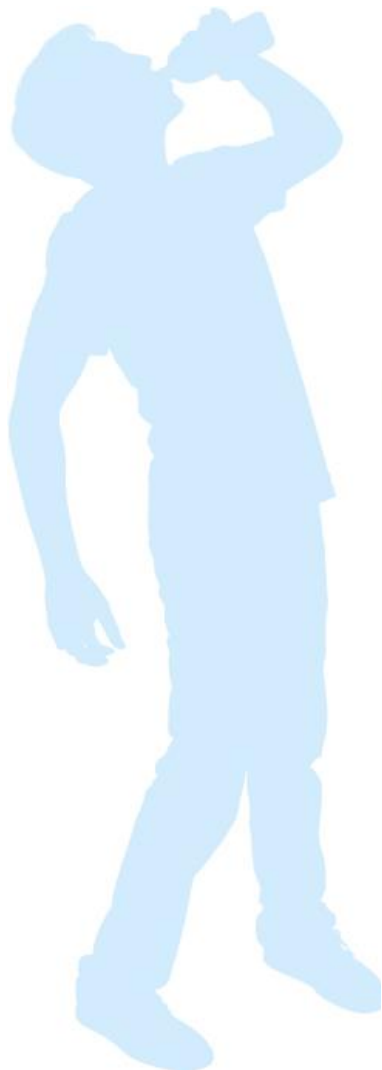

Earth Carers have just the thing to make your next event a more sustainable one! Our H₂O to Go portable water bottle refill stations and a water fountain are available for western suburbs councils, schools and community groups to borrow. All you need is a tap. The stations provide free filtered water at your events, reduce litter and encourage people to bring reusable water bottles when they are out and about.

How do they work?

Packed in a handy carry bag, the stations are easily transported by car and simple to set up. They have a base plate which can be pegged or sand bagged down on windy days and connect to an existing mains water tap via a 10m stainless steel drink safe hose. The tap must have a thread to connect the hose to and cannot be self-closing. Carbon filters purify the water and inbuilt flow meters help you track how many plastic water bottles you've saved! You can borrow one, two or three of the stations.

The stations weigh 12kgs plus the metal base plate and are easiest to transport using a sack trolley. Allow half an hour to set up before the event.

Who can borrow them?

The H₂O to Go stations are free for western suburbs councils, schools, and community groups to borrow.

To borrow the stations you need to:

- ◆ Feature them in the event promotion (posters, websites etc) using our media template, examples of graphics below
- ◆ Announce them at the event (where possible)
- ◆ Organise transportation of the stations and allow half an hour on pick up to run through how to use them
- ◆ Read and sign our terms for use
- ◆ Send us some photos of your event
